

Have your employer fund your future in property management today.

Aren't prepared to pay the $1,500 course fee out of your own pocket but recognise the career growth potential of a Level 4 Certificate in Property Management? While a property management qualification is a powerful building block in your career, you're also helping bring more value and authority to your company. Presenting this win/win situation to your manager is a simple, proactive way to take a significant leap forward in your property management career!

Here are some straightforward points that you can use when approaching your manager to pay for your qualification:

- 1. Regulations: With property management regulations on the way, this qualification ensures our company proactively prepares for the future.
- 2. Accountability: RPMA® presents the course online during evenings in a structured format to keep me on track.
- 3. Competence: An advanced skillset allows me to bring more value to our Landlords and Tenants.
- 4. Inflation: With the current state of inflation and regulations looming, now is the time to take the course before prices potentially increase.
- 5. Credibility: I can increase the trust of Landlords and Tenants with a nationally recognised certificate.
- 6. Personal Growth: My confidence in the service I deliver will improve, leading to high customer satisfaction.
- 7. Office Decor: Let's give everyone who comes into our office a great first impression with the industry-leading certification hanging on the walls!

Are you ready to proactively further your career? Once your manager agrees to fund your qualification, get in touch here:

www.rpma.org.nz/contact-us/
admin@rpma.org.nz

“You can't build a reputation on what you are going to do” - Henry Ford.